in order to process the personal data to the extent necessary for its compliance with any legal obligations to which the Controller is subject (legal basis: article 6 paragraph 1 point c of the GDPR).

Rights under the Provisions of GDPR.

Personal data are provided voluntarily. However, depending on specific circumstances, the refusal to provide one’s data or requesting their removal may particularly prevent the Controller from: contacting you, providing you with information on events and activity of the Company, as well as from performing a service. The provision of your information via electronic means, e.g. by e-mail, shall be conditional upon the reception of your prior consent. Pursuant to the principles set out in the legal regulations applying to the protection of personal data and to the extent provided therein, you shall have the right to access and correct your personal data, have them erased or restricted in terms of processing, the right to data portability, as well as the right to lodge a complaint with a relevant supervisory authority Agencia Española de Protección de Datos (the “AEPD”). If you do not wish to have your personal data processed by the Company for marketing purposes, you are entitled to object to it at any time or to withdraw your consent to the processing of your personal data for this purpose at any time, whilst the withdrawal of such consent shall not affect the lawfulness of processing based on the consent expressed prior to its withdrawal.

Period of Processing.

Depending on specific purposes and legal bases applied to the processing, your personal data shall be particularly processed:

- 1) until the expiry of the limitation periods pertaining to the contract related to the processing of personal data;
- 2) until relevant and legitimate interests related to the processing of specific data and carried out by the Company as the data controller are executed;
- 3) until the expiry of limitation periods pertaining to particular obligations arising from the legislation;
- 4) until an objection is notified or the withdrawal of one's consent relating to the scope of the processing of one's data for marketing purposes is made.

Transfer of Personal Data to other Entities.

Your personal data shall only be transferred to entities authorized under the relevant provisions of law or on the basis of an entrustment agreement conducted with the Controller. The Controller is entitled to entrust the data to entities that are directly or indirectly related to the Company (particularly by organizational or personal links), having their seats in one of the Member States of the European Union. Furthermore, state authorities and services may also be recipients of your personal data, external service providers (including IT, accounting and legal services, chartered accountants and auditors) included. The above-mentioned service providers shall unconditionally observe the confidentiality of your personal data and process them in conformity with the provisions applying to the protection of personal data.

Processing Area. Absence of Profiling.

Your personal data shall be processed at the Company's registered office and shall not be transferred to any countries situated outside the European Union. In the event of a transfer of personal data to any third countries (located outside the EU), the Controller shall apply appropriate instruments aimed at ensuring the security of your data.

Your personal data shall not be subject to profiling, nor are they to be subject to any other form of automated decision-making.
